

58TH RADIX CUP MATCHES WASHED OUT

Due to inclement weather, the 58th Radix Cup Matches, a competition featuring a team of amateur golfers representing the Chicago District Golf Association (CDGA) squaring off with a squad of Illinois PGA (IPGA) professionals, will not be contested as scheduled on Wednesday, June 12 at Oak Park Country Club. A decision about a possible rescheduling will be made at a later time.

Up next on the CDGA's schedule of amateur championships is the 100th CDGA Amateur Championship, which will be contested at Glen View Club June 24-27. On deck for the IPGA competition schedule is several weeks of administering qualifiers leading up to the Illinois Open Championship, the state championship of golf.